Re: MM Docket 99-25

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On the morning of July 5, 2011, Cheryl Leanza had telephone conversations with Josh Cinelli, Office of Commissioner Copps and Dave Grimaldi, Office of Commissioner Clyburn to discuss matters in the above-captioned docket on behalf of Prometheus Radio Project in her capacity as a consultant to Media Access Project.

Ms. Leanza called to follow up on the meeting between Andy Schwartzman and Brandy Doyle last week. Ms. Leanza emphasized to Mr. Cinelli and Mr. Grimaldi that Prometheus Radio Project would prefer that the Commission's proposal issued next week will make clear the merits of the strongest proposal to implement the Local Community Radio Act and the reasons for the Commission's preference. She also reiterated that the Commission should make clear that Congress has spoken: Congress directed the FCC to add locally-originated radio stations to the dial and the FCC may not process all of the translators that are pending consistent with the Local Community Radio Act. The legislative language was the product of careful negotiation by a number of interested parties.

In addition, via email, Ms. Leanza provided to Mr. Cinelli and Mr. Grimaldi a link to a report by the Leadership Conference of Civil and Human Rights, describing the importance of low power radio to the civil rights community. The report is attached, and is available at:
